

Day 1

Open up the BBC Bitesize page about apostrophes. Watch the two video clips about using apostrophes for possession and contraction. Listen and read the information carefully.

Complete the online practice activities. Use the information on the web page to help you if you get stuck.

Once you get to Activity 3, watch the video clip and write five sentences in your homework book, either describing what you saw in the video or explaining why bees are so important to us.

Use apostrophes for contraction or possession in each sentence.

For example:

- The flowers' petals are starting to show beautiful vibrant colours!
- It won't be long until the bees arrive. It's important to look after a bee's habitat so that it can help new flowers to grow!
- My garden is full of plants that I shouldn't play football near because the bees love them - the pink flowers are the bees' favourite!
